Lyneta writes and speaks to inspire women to live like they believe God treasures them. It's time we reclaim our place as His masterpieces, heal from past wounds, and live as God's cherished creation. As a veteran homeschooler and Bible student, she offers wisdom and encouragement for women.

Ministry Topics

All the World's a Stage: Basking in God's Spotlight

Lyneta shares how God pulled her out of a stage-perfect life to face the pain from her past, free her from performance-based faith, and enable her to live as a coheir with Christ. Find out how the Master scriptwriter and director redeems our stories to further His kingdom. Be inspired to live, work, and create from a place of being a masterpiece, not striving to become one.

Homeschool Hope

As parents and teachers, we feel the weight of double responsibility. Are we making the right choices? Are we doing enough? When the ones we love most are also our biggest critics, the burden can wear us down. Join Lyneta, veteran homeschooler, as she offers encouragement and hope for homeschooling mamas in the trenches.

Sunday School Ragamuffin

When she was 7, Lyneta traipsed alone 3 blocks to church on Sundays. Her Sunday school teacher led her to ask Jesus' forgiveness and invite Him to be Lord of her life. She became the ragamuffin daughter of the King. Learn key ways to reach children from dysfunctional families. For children's workers and teachers.

Lyneta speaks at retreats, conferences, and women's ministry events.

Testimonials

“Lyneta Smith is a sensitive and compassionate woman of God. She translates her own experiences with difficulties and dysfunction into meaningful messages of hope and healing. Lyneta would be a welcomed speaker at any event where God is honored and praised.”

Sandra L., Acton, ME

“Lyneta is an honest speaker. She transparently shares her own brokenness, inviting her listeners to acknowledge their own stories. Most importantly, she encourages her listeners to recognize the masterpiece the Creator has crafted and is refining in and through their lives.”

Anne D., Eagan, MN

“Lyneta reminded us that we are a masterpiece, not because of anything we’ve done, but solely because of God. While listening to her encouraging words, God’s grace work in own my life became evident to me, and I walked away willing to trust him more.”

Melissa K., Pocahontas, AR

“As Lyneta courageously shares her story, she weaves in the truth of His word and points her audience to the love of Jesus Christ. Her vulnerability inspires others to open their hearts to be filled with His light and hope.”

Michelle V., Durham, NC

“Without hesitation, I recommend Lyneta Smith for your next women's retreat. She is authentic, approachable and leaves you with a reminder that God loves all of us equally, and His plans are to prosper and not harm us, to give us a hope and a future.”
